Whomever put together this book did it in such a way as to deceive. How incredibly annoying. I just wanted FOX's text -- not the words of some unnamed author inserting his own words in the middle of the book. Mid-book there is a section about how an "older" manuscript of the Bible was found at a Buddhist monastery (known at the Sinaiticus). Said "discovery" was in the late 19th century, whereas Fox lived in and died hundreds of years BEFORE that. It is propaganda to insert such into this book that was supposedly written over 400 years ago. It has NOT been scientifically proven to be the oldest, it had more corrections in it than any other biblical manuscript, it was "found" by a "Protestant" who very suspiciously had audience with the Catholic Pope before "discovering" it -- and then edges of the manuscript were burned here and there, the person who "found" it saying that it was because it was being used as tinder for a fireplace or stove in the monastery. In fact, it was burned in parts to erase any indication of the true author of the supposed ancient manuscript, as pointed out by the man from Greece (who was not even a Christian) who claimed authorship of the same. It's a whole story that I cannot lay out the whole case here, but anyone who is interested should watch the excellent documentary entitled TARES AMONG THE WHEAT. Last I checked it is available to watch for free on YouTube. This book of Fox's also hails the "Codex Vaticanus," which by its name you may already guess was "found" in the Vatican as yet another "original" manuscript. Those two manuscripts -- the Sinaiticus and the Vaticanus -- are what has been used in nearly every new translation of the Bible since the Geneva 1599 and the King James Bibles.
